The time is too remote for me to make a promise, but I assure you that it would be most agreeable to me personally and so-cially to meet you on any suitable occasion. There is no use in my mincing terms. Whenever and wherever the honest men of North Carolina seek to allay sectional and party animosities, and to cultivate feelings of fraternal respect for their fellow-citizens of the United States, it will be to me most tempting to come to Salisbury. I would far prefer to come alone than as before, with a vast army, leaving desolation behind. But I must not be construed as assenting to the proposition that Confederates and Union men were alike worthy of celebration for the terrible history on some civic occasion, when all a absolutely equal, all alike interested the present and future glory of our common country. Parliament for Stafford, and President of the Miners' National Association, adderessing a meeting of miners' delegates at Glasgow, advised them to restrict the output of coal of ten hundred weight per man daily and thus check the iron masters for having blown out their furnaces. The meeting approved the course proposed.

As a proof of depression in trade, the Chairman of the annual Congress of the Trades' Union, stated that four of the principal unions spent £200,000, relieving members during the past year.

The short time movement at Oldham has not produced any appreciable effect upon the market for home yarns.

Simla, September 16.—One of the troopers of Maj. Cavagnari's escort arrived at Lundi Khotal, yesterday. He says that the roof of the British residency, at Cabul, was commanded by other houses and was consequently untenable by the besieged, who made a trench outside at about one o'clock in the atternoon, on the day of the massacre. Maj. Cavagnari received a wound from a Ricochetting bullet in his forehead. orehead. Mr. Jenkyns, Major Cavagnari's assist

Mr. Jenkyns, Major Cavagnari's assistant, who arrived at the residency during the attack, wrote to the Ameer for help, and the Ameer's reply was: "God will, I am making arrangements." A previous request from Major Cavagnari had met with the same reply. Mr. Jenkyns wrote again when Major Cavagnari was wounded, but the bearer of the letter was cut to pieces by the mutineers. The trooper then started, but was disarmed and imprisoned. He succeeded in escaping at daybreak on the 4th of September, and visited the residency, where he saw the corpse of Lieutenant Hamilton, commanding the escort of the British mission, lying across a mountain gun.

He says Mr. Jenkyns was with a person called Yuhyah Khan, and he is therefore presumably alive. The escaped trooper saw no troops from Cabul to Jellashad and Dekks, and as far as he knew none were coming. A comrade who was confined in Cabul informed him that Liant

THE "THUNDERER" ON THE AFGHAN

London, September 16.—The Times, in a leading editorial article, says: It is not the policy to surrender and withdraw from Afghanistan, that is now really a formidable settlement, on which the Nation was last year agreed, but it is rather a movement for apparation appropriate the settlement of the s isst year agreed, but it is rather a move-ment for annexation and adventure, which is to be dreaded and resisted, and which is being deliberately advocated by some who opposed last year's campaign. It is simply a waste of time to speculate on the significance of certain wordy vaporings in Russian newspapers, and the assertion Russian newspapers, and the assertion are certainly not to be accepted without proof concerning Russian instigation is the massacre.

LONDON, September 16.—A dispatch from Madrid says: The Spanish Government is rather embarrassed by the increasing agitation in Cuba. General Martinz Campos has proposed to his colleagues to make a clear statement of his reform policy as soon as the Cortes meets, but the ministers and Conservative leaders want to defer the question till after the marriage of the King.
